PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY ASSASSINATED; GOVERNOR J. CONNALLY OF TEXAS WOUNDED

Kicking Around With Kirk

Well, Thanksgiving has rolled around again. Makes one wonder just where the past 12 months have gone. Nevertheless, here we are. Speaking of Thanksgiving, did you ever think of it though, compared to our forefathers and the time when this wonderful day was set aside, every day of our life should be a day of Thanksgiving. Those were days of privation and sacrifice. No running water or any of the nice handy gadgets that we have today. Just a few of several items of food stocks, sufficient for the coming winter months caused our forefathers to be thankful beyond anything we might even suppose. Some people's idea of sacrifice today is missing a coffee break.

Thanksgiving Day festing in colonial times was subject to the luck of the years' farming, the current mood of the local Indians and shipments from abroad. The other day I noted how one year the good citizens in Connecticut had to delay their celebration when a cargo of molasses failed to arrive in time for the scheduled day of Thanksgiving. Today that sort of thing seems almost impossible. Our living across the county is practically fully integrated. Every community shares their goodies with every other community. The ease of transportation, the wonder of today's distribution system through our highly developed supermarkets makes available to practically every homemaker in the United States almost any and every item conceivable.

The turkey we have today is a far cry from the wild ones that were available for those early Thanksgivings. Through years of breeding and knowledge of feeding today's turkeys are meatier and far more tender. We have turkeys that are tailored to fit the size of family. Again we can be thankful that our economy has progressed to the point that turkeys are no longer just a "Thanksgiving Day delicacy". Turkeys are grown in such quantities and are priced so competitive to other meats that they are available the year around in practically all markets.

Turkey growing has become "big business" with several folks here in Antrim county. Upwards of 60,000 birds are grown each year by our producers. Early spring hatches are marketed at what is known as broilers. These will dress from 5 to 7 pounds. They make an excellent bird for broiling in the outdoor charcoal rotisserie.

Whether we have turkey or whatever it might be, we should all be thankful for the fact that it has been our good fortune to live at a time and in a country the time we do. No other people from the beginning of time has ever been so favored. We indeed are a lucky generation.

BULLETIN

In Elk Rapids, the grief-stricken town of 1100 cancelled meetings, schools on Monday and business places closed from 11 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Nov. 25th, the day of the funeral of the late John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th president of the United States.

Funeral services were held from St. Matthews Cathedral in Washington, D.C. with burial in the Arlington National Cemetery.

Johnson Takes Over Responsibilities Of The Presidency

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23—President Johnson Saturday took time out from the painful tasks of his first full day in office to pay silent tribute to his dead chief, the martyred John F. Kennedy.

Accompanied by his wife Lady Bird, the new first lady, the president walked across the street from his suite in the executive office building to the White House where Kennedy's body reposed in the ornate East Room.

Following them into the East Room, where they were joined by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower who had flown here from New York, was almost the entire Republican and Democratic leadership of the house and senate.

Speaker John W. McCormack, now next in line of succession to the presidency, followed the Johnsons.

The 55-year-old Texan had begun his first day of grappling with the awesome responsibilities now his at 8:45 a.m. EST when he left home in a closely escorted limousine for the five-mile drive to the White House.

He conferred briefly with Central Intelligence Director John A. McCone and McGeorge Bundy, special White House assistant for national security, before going to his old vice presidential suite in the old State department building next door.

There he conferred with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Bundy again, and others before returning to the White House.

Eisenhower, the Republican former chief executive upon whom Kennedy, too, had leaned occasionally at times of crisis, drove to the White House in the company of senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Earlier, Johnson had conferred with Rusk and McNamara for about 45 minutes each. Photographers and reporters admitted to the suite heard the new president and his defense chief discussing military authorization and appropriation measures.

Unusual Program To Be Featured By Mort Neff On TV

Michigan's most unusual Thanksgiving dinner will be telecast at 7:00 o'clock this Thursday evening.

The host will be Mort Neff, well-known outdoorsman and featured on television's "Michigan Outdoors." Neff's guests will be Picky, the Porcupine; Bullet, the Porcupine; Smokey, the Badger; Woody No. 1 and Woody No. 2, the woodchuck twins; Petunia, the Skunk; Harvey, the Raccoon; and Blacky, a rare albino raccoon. Three other guests will appear incognito; they are a buzzard, an opossum and a baby screech owl. All the guests are residents of the Michigan Outdoors Zoo, Monroe, and have appeared frequently with Mort Neff on "Michigan Outdoors."

Neff promises that the guests will be suitably attired for the occasion, including party hats, and that—however exotic the menu may be—ice cream will be the piece de resistance. It is an irresistible favorite of all the Michigan animals.

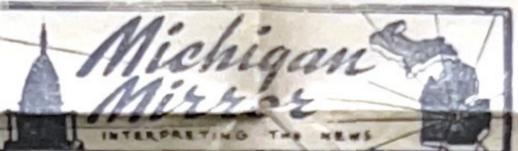

"Michigan Outdoors" is telecast every Thursday evening at 7:00 p.m. It originates at station WXYZ-TV (Detroit) and is shown over a regional network consisting of WJIM-TV (Channel 6, Lansing), WNEM-TV (Channel 5, Bay City), WOOD-TV (Channel 8, Grand Rapids), WPNB-TV (Channel 7, Traverse City), and WTOM-TV (Channel 4, Cheboygan).

MONEY PROBLEM

Probably the biggest single factor, other than the sheer presence of partisanship, in the defeat of Gov. George Romney's fiscal reform program was within the Governor's ranks.

It was not an intentional blow, but an unavoidable one. Controller Glenn S. Allen Jr., who ran with Romney last year on the state GOP ticket, was forced into disclosing his estimate of the state's fiscal picture at the end of the current fiscal year.

The picture was so rosy, although Allen was conservative in his estimate, it had adverse effects in the Legislature. Some Republicans, already convinced they did not want an income tax, became more firm in their opposition when the estimate was announced.

At least some Democrats who have favored a similar reform program in past years decided to vote against this one on the basis of Allen's estimate of a $25 million surplus at the end of June.

For many of the Democrats it was largely a matter of choice: to support a program basically the same as they supported under their own party's administrations, or to find enough flaws in it to vote against it and hand Romney his first important defeat.

Allen had little, if any, choice. If he held back with the figures quite a few more legislators had indicated they could not vote on the program.

Releasing his estimate, however, confirmed what most legislators thought was true. The $77 million package of nuisance taxes enacted in 1961 is more than doing its job because Michigan is continuing to ride the wave of a boom.

All Romney's pleas to "fix the roof before the rains come" were to no avail. The impact of lack of action will probably only be known when the boom wave crests and begins to fall.

HELP FOR STUDENTS

Loans available to Michigan college students through the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority will be sharply increased if the 1964 Legislature enacts a law to be proposed.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett said the law would raise the guarantee to banks on loans from the present 80 percent on principal and interest to 100 percent on principal alone. Bartlett said this was expected to encourage greater participation in the loan program by banks.

BIRTH RATE DOWN

There is a good chance Michigan will record the low before the storm in birth numbers this year.

State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis reports that at the three-quarter mark on the calendar year a total of 130,062 births were recorded, for an average of around 14,500 a month.

Projecting this through the last three months of the year would give a 12-month total of about 173,000 births. In the number this year falls below the 180,000 mark, it will be the lowest number since 1952, Heustis said.

The 1962 report showed 181,754 new babies were born. That was the fifth consecutive year to show a decline.

Michigan's latest population explosion high was in 1957 when 208,488 babies were born. The birth rate has been declining steadily since.

Another peak should come soon, as more and more "war babies" reach the marriage stage.

DATE CHANGE FOR CALFHOOD VACCINATION

The dates for Antrim County's, countywide calfhood Vaccination program has been changed to Friday and Saturday, Dec. 6 and 7, says Walter G. Kirkpatrick, Antrim County Agricultural Agent.

All farmers having dairy or beef heifers from four through eight months of age, desiring to keep these for breeding purposes, are urged to take advantage of the Vaccination program. Heifers that are not vaccinated at these ages can be sold only for beef purposes. With no Veterinarian located in Antrim County, the countywide program assists many getting this service performed in an orderly and inexpensive manner.

ELK RAPIDS SCHOOLS

Nov. 27—School dismissed at noon Nov. 28—Thanksgiving (end of 2nd 6 weeks) Dec. 2—School resumed.

Waiter - Waitress Training Program

Sponsored by the Antrim Co. Area Redevelopment Administration, financed by the Federal ARA, authorized by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction and the Antrim County Board of Education, the waitress training program, to begin sometime in the early part of December, has added waiters training to its agenda.

This means that men, 18 to 45 years of age, will be trained for service as well as women. The course will now be combined under the direction of Mrs. Violet Manglos, ass't. mgr. of Shanty Creek Lodge, Bellaire. As with the women, each man will receive $35.00 per week ARA sustenance during the three weeks of training. As previously announced the program will be held at Shanty Creek Lodge in Bellaire.

Urgency for each applicant to get his request to the nearest Michigan Employment Security Commission office (either Traverse City or Petoskey) is of necessity, in as much as it is hoped that the program can be started early in December.

Dairy Schools Start At Ellsworth

The first in a series of five Dairy Schools will start at Ellsworth next Thursday, December 5, says Walter G. Kirkpatrick, Antrim County Agricultural Agent. The series of schools are being sponsored jointly by the Antrim-Charlevoix, Antrim-Kewadin ABA's and the Agricultural Agents in both Antrim and Charlevoix counties. Further meetings will be held December 12, January 9, 16 and 23. All meetings will be at the Ellsworth Community Hall.

Dairying is becoming an increasingly specialized subject. Although there are fewer dairy herds in each county, the size of herds is becoming larger and milk production per county is remaining at a very high level. These meetings will enable various subjects to be brought to our dairymen in greater depth for a more thorough understanding of the subject. The first subject will deal with "Dairy Nutrition". Don Hillman, Extension Spec. in Dairying MSU will be present to conduct the first meeting. Meetings will start at 10:00 a.m. and conclude at 3:00. Lunch will be available at noon. All dairymen are invited and urged to attend.

WHY NOT SOVIET GOLD?

The least Congress can do to protect the taxpayers in the infamous $250 million wheat deal with Russia is to pass the Mundt Bill to prohibit the Export-Import Bank from extending credit to the USSR or any other Communist country. But Treasury Secretary Dillon says the Soviets won't take our wheat unless our Government underwrites the deal!

If our enemy wants this wheat—either to save his own hide, to stockpile for war or to resell at a profit; the very least we should demand is payment in that gold his slave miners have been digging for years out of the Siberian wilderness.

But we still believe that trading with the enemy makes no better sense today than it ever did.

SHOT DOWN IN DALLAS AMBUSH

DALLAS, Texas Nov. 22—President Kennedy was assassinated Friday in a burst of gunfire in downtown Dallas, Texas Gov. John Connally was shot down with him.

The president was rushed to Parkland hospital. The president, 46 years old, was shot once in the head. Connally was hit in the head and wrist.

Police found a foreign-made rifle. Sheriff's officers questioned a young man picked up at the scene. The president was conscious as he arrived at the hospital. Father Huber from Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church was called and administered the last right of the church.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who now becomes the president of the United States, was in a car behind the Kennedys and Connallys.

President Kennedy was shot in the right temple. "It was a simple matter of a bullet right through the head," said Dr. George Burkley, White House medical officer.

The shooting occurred as Kennedy and his wife, riding with Gov. Connally and Mrs. Connally, were riding in the White House "bubbletop" limousine through a crowd of 250,000 people in downtown Dallas.

As it neared the triple underpass leading toward the Trade Mart where Kennedy was to address a lunch, three bursts of gunfire sounded. Kennedy died 30 minutes after the shot was fired.

Gov. Connally was reported in satisfactory condition. Johnson left the hospital moments after he was informed of the president's death.

Avowed Marxist Charged With Assassination

Pro-Communist Lee Harvey Oswald, was charged Saturday with the assassination of President Kennedy. Police said paraffin results on his hands were "positive" and began questioning him.

Lee Harvey Oswald, an avowed Marxist and a Fidel Castro sympathizer, was charged with the assassination of President Kennedy.

The 24-year-old political misfit and Marine reject was booked on a murder charge and jailed without bond.

District Attorney Henry Wade said he had 15 witnesses to the assassination. He said investigators had learned from Oswald's Russian-born wife that he had a rifle of the type used to kill the president and had it with him the night before the assassination.

It was the second murder count brought against the ex-Marine in a hectic 10 1/2 hours after the president was gunned down as he rode in a motorcade along a Dallas street.

Oswald also was accused of slaying a pursuing policeman, another charge he denied although he admitted he owned the snub-nosed .38-caliber pistol which felled the veteran officer.

Police claimed Oswald, who qualified as a sharpshooter while in the Marines, was in the building from which the assassin fired the fatal bullet at Kennedy.

Every day should be one of Thanksgiving for us who live in America. For, we enjoy blessings undreamed of in other parts of the world.

Let's give thanks in the church of our choice for our freedom, and many blessings that are ours.

NUDISM ON THE STREETS

New, faster streets and expressways serving the growing city and suburban population plus the greater number of automobiles on the roads have increased the need for efficient snow and ice control. To meet this need more and more states, cities and counties are adopting the "bare pavement" method of maintaining traffic safety even under the most trying winter conditions.

The bare pavement technique calls for spreading salt at the first storm warning to melt the snow as it falls and to prevent bonding of snow and ice to the pavement. This action avoids the dangerous condition of thick hard packed ice and snow on the street surface. Prevention is the modern practice.

In maintaining streets and highways during winter storms public safety is the prime consideration. It has been estimated that the fast and efficient bare pavement method based on salt applications will help save hundreds of lives and prevent thousands of personal injuries.

In addition this modern method of winter maintenance expedites essential traffic and saves millions of dollars in accident costs and commercial community losses associated with ice or snow covered streets and highways.

 rifle with the telescopic sight which fired the fatal bullet into Kennedy's brain, but they said there were no fingerprints on it.

Oswald was a stock clerk in the Texas schoolbook depository, the seven-story building on Main street from which the sniper fired the fatal shot.

From the sixth floor of this building, the sniper fired at the presidential car, 100 yards away.

The 7.65 (roughly 30-caliber) bolt action Mauser German army rifle with 4-power sniperscope was found tucked among the books on the sixth floor. Near it were gnawed chicken bones and an empty soda bottle. The sniper apparently had waited in comfort.

Kennedy was shot at 12:31 p.m. (CST).

Oswald was born in New Orleans July 19, 1939. On Oct. 30, 1959, 20 years later, he turned up at the U.S. embassy in Moscow and announced he wanted to renounce his U.S. citizenship.

The Russians would not grant him citizenship. He married a Russian woman.

In February, 1962, he changed his mind and decided to return home. The embassy staked him to $435 for fare and gave him a passport. He remained a U.S. citizen.

He said he was a Marxist. He said he was for Fidel Castro, the Cuban Communist.

This year, he had applied again for a passport to let him visit such countries as Russia. It was issued to him last June.

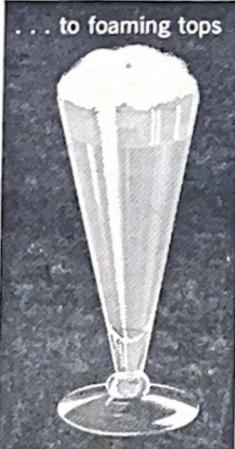

Accused Assassin Of Kennedy Slain In Dallas Jail

Police closed the books Monday on Lee Harvey Oswald and the world will never know what was in his mind. He was shot to death as President Kennedy's assassin by a self-appointed executioner before a nationwide television audience.

Bits of Philosophy

PSYCHOLOGY and PHILOSOPHY

Psychology is the study of human beings and their behavior. It is valuable to the teacher because it shows him how his pupils are likely to react to various stimuli, thus giving him a chance to select and present the particular stimulus that will result in the reaction that he wants from his pupils. In other words, psychology should enable the teacher, at least to a certain extent, to predict and to control the behavior of his pupils—taking behavior in the broad sense, of course.

Philosophy has to do with broad relationships, such as the meaning of life, the function of art, the place of education in the life of men. It deals with such concepts as the good, the true, the beautiful, and its study helps the teacher to decide in what direction he would like to have his pupils go. It makes clearer which things are important and therefore deserving of greater emphasis and which ones are comparatively insignificant. The philosopher tries to see life whole, to understand the relationship of parts to whole. The teacher needs philosophy in order to understand the relation of education to life, of any given subject to education as a whole, and of the parts of a subject to the function of the subject in general.

So philosophy points the way, helps us decide on our general objectives; but psychology shows us how to achieve these objectives in working with our pupils. The conclusion is that both philosophy and psychology are important and that in order to be successful the teacher must be something of a philosopher on the one hand and something of a practical psychologist on the other. —K.W.G.

A nitrogen manufacturing plant at Albion uses no raw material but air.

Thousands of civic and social-minded citizens have either by will or other legal action established "trusts" for charitable purposes in Michigan.

The income and sometimes some portion of the principal of the trust property is dedicated for the relief of the aged and poor people; needy, crippled or handicapped children; scholarships; medical and scientific research; schools; libraries; religious purposes; to erect hospitals and homes for the aged; and as it has been stated for any purpose beneficial to mankind and the community."

A learned English judge once ruled, "There is no justification for any charitable trust to operate in a cloak of secrecy because that cloak can become a shroud, and the property vanish like the snows under the warming rays of the sun."

In a charitable trust, a private individual may not step forward and endeavor to force a trustee to carry out the trust provisions.

In 1961 the legislature enacted a law by which it became the duty of the trustees of charitable purposes trusts to register the trust with the Attorney General, and the Attorney General was authorized to supervise and take appropriate action to enforce the provisions of the trust. Since the effective date of the act, the Attorney General has registered 1,781 charitable purposes trusts, having a combined asset and property value of upwards of 6 million dollars. A complete registration and file record of all these trusts are maintained in his office.

Some of the investigations and action of this office to the present time has resulted in increased amounts of funds being used and distributed for use of libraries; scholarships; needy, crippled, or handicapped children; hospitals; aged persons; to build a home for the aged; medical care for needy persons; as well as many other benevolent purposes.

WINTER WOES by Timson

One day in his car, Joe B. Dew,
(Dead wiper blades streaking his view)
Ran into a bus
And caused a great fuss—
Which cost him some bucks (not a few!)

PREVENT THOSE WINTER DRIVING WOES

The Safe Winter Driving League presents the following tip for better visibility this winter from the National Safety Council: "Be sure your windshield wiper blades are in good, live condition to prevent streaking. Arms should provide at least an ounce of pressure for each inch of blade length to sweep off snow, sleet and road-muck. You must see danger to avoid it."

New Varieties of OATS HAVE HIGHER YIELDS

Coachman and AuSable are two new oat varieties farmers in Michigan and nearby states will be hearing much about in the next few years. The new varieties, developed by MSU plant breeders, will be ready for general use in 1965.

Over-state trials show the new varieties yield higher, have higher test weights and larger grains than those now in use. Both varieties yielded well above 100 bushels an acre.

Coachman is expected to replace Clinton in the southern two tiers of Michigan counties and may be adapted to Ohio, Indiana and Illinois conditions.

AuSable is more adapted to Michigan's thum and central state areas. Trials showed it to outyield Rodney, the variety now commonly used in these areas.

The 1,200 bushels of foundation seed of the two new varieties will be multiplied by certified seed growers in 1964 and seed will be available to the farmers for their 1965 crop.

The two varieties were developed by Dr. John Grafius, crop science plant breeder at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station, with assistance from Dr. Richard Kiesling, Kiesling was formerly a member of the botany and plant pathology department.

Michigan farmers will get a chance to study the two new varieties under field conditions in a dozen or more field trials in the summer of 1964. The Michigan Cooperative Extension Service expects to hold field days in several regions of the state where tests will be conducted.

SAFETY ON A PLATE

The American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, the state officials in charge of vehicle registration and operation, recently recommended the use of "safety" license plates as an effective, inexpensive way to reduce rear-end collisions on our highways.

The safety tags, now being used by 13 states and the District of Columbia (and by three more states in 1964), are covered with a reflective material that shines brilliantly at night in the headlights of approaching cars.

The cost of the plates, as compared to standard plates, is only about 25 cents more per car—cheap enough, if accidents and deaths are prevented by their use.

These plates are particularly useful because studies of the operating condition of cars over the past years show that rear lights and stop lights are the parts most commonly defective. In 1962, a National Safety Council study found that 34 percent of cars had defective lights on the rear. The next most common item, front lights, was a distant second with only 11 percent.

If a car could be equipped with a safety device that can be seen from as far as 1,500 feet at night, even if the car that was parked or disabled had no operating lights, it could prevent many accidents.

And the cost? At a quarter a car, it's worth it.

T. C. State Hospital Prepares For Christmas

It may seem somewhat inappropriate, during this most beautiful fall weather, that Traverse City State Hospital is already making preparations for Christmas. However, with the tremendous program which the hospital is carrying on, it is imperative that an early start be made if Christmas 1963 is to be the joyous season so much hoped for by everyone concerned.

Out of the 3,000 patients being cared for at Traverse City State Hospital, approximately half of them would receive no Christmas gifts, cards or remembrances of any kind. The Community Relations Department, in behalf of these patients, each year for the last ten years has made an appeal to individuals and groups, in the 39 county area served by the institution, in order that these patients may enjoy a happy holiday season.

Thus, again this year, the Community Relations Department of Traverse City State Hospital makes this appeal to civic groups, clubs, churches, schools, organizations of all kinds, and individuals, inviting them to have a part in the institution's Christmas program. It is the hope of the hospital administration that this may be one of our most successful efforts in behalf of our patients. Through the generosity of the good people of Northern Michigan, it can be accomplished.

Christmas gifts do not have to be expensive. They should, however, be new. Used items cannot be given to patients as Christmas gifts. Christmas gifts should not be wrapped, but should be accompanied by a sufficient amount of wrapping material. Such items as cosmetics of all descriptions, costume jewelry, inexpensive items of clothing, candy, cigarettes, pipes, accessories, books, games, puzzles, needlecraft supplies, art supplies, handicraft materials of all kinds.

and many, many other items too numerous to mention are highly acceptable. Ages of patients range from seven to ninety-seven.

Groups and organizations and individuals are cordially invited to begin now to make plans for taking part in the hospital's Christmas activities.

Christmas gifts should arrive at the institution not later than December 1st, if at all possible. Gifts should be carefully packed and mailed or delivered to the Community Relations Department, Box C, Traverse City, Michigan. Gifts intended for a specific patient should be addressed to that patient, Box C, Traverse City, Michigan.

Groups or individuals wishing more information regarding the types of gifts, mailing instructions, and so forth, should address an inquiry to the Community Relations Department. Christmas gift lists, acknowledgement cards, and mailing stickers have been prepared and will be mailed to anyone making such inquiries.

Calf Health Pays Big Dividends

The biggest problem on some Michigan dairy farms is not squeezing an extra bucket of milk out of the cow, but just keeping her calf healthy.

About one out of every four heifer calves doesn't live to one year of age, reports Dr. D. J. Ellis, MSU Extension Veterinarian. He points out that the lack of healthy calves as replacements can curtail the steady rise in Michigan milk production.

Keeping the freshening cow in the dry lot or loafing area may save the lives of both the newly-born calf and its mother. The farmer can give aid if calving proves difficult or in case milk fever develops. Cows calving in pasture will likely choose the most secluded area possible, and the farmer might spend two or three days trying to find the calf. "The first 24 hours are the most important in the life of a calf," says Dr. Ellis. "Iodine tincture should be applied to the navel as soon as possible to prevent infection. Farmers should also make sure that the calf gets colostrum milk from the mother."

A big problem in raising calves is keeping abrupt temperature changes to a minimum. Calves cannot stand a 20 to 30 degree drop in temperature. "A calf barn with no windows on a cold night is just like a wind tunnel," says Dr.

CONTROL THAT CAMPFIRE!

DON'T START A FIRE NEAR TALL GRASS OR BRUSH... NEVER LEAVE IT UNATTENDED... AND BE SURE IT'S DEAD OUT WHEN YOU'VE FINISHED!

Ellis. "This can easily occur in late November when farmers forget to close barn windows and temperatures drop sharply. Young calves can stand the cold if it is constant, but they just don't seem to adjust to sudden severe temperature drops."

What about feeding problems? They generally will be caused by one of three things: The calf doesn't get enough to eat, the hired man or some member of the family forgets to feed them, or there are too many calves in one pen.

The MSU Veterinarian says that most farmers feed large heavy-boned calves the same as smaller calves. The larger calves will generally lose weight and are more susceptible to infections and disease, because they aren't getting enough to eat.

"Disease producing organisms vary from farm to farm and what works on one farm may not work at another," Dr. Ellis says. "Diagnostic work must be performed on each farm when calf diseases crop up. In this way, we can determine whether the bacteria are resistant or sensitive to antibiotics or chemicals. Dairymen can't afford to let a calf die without making some diagnostic findings. A diagnosis can save time, calves and money needlessly spent for wrong antibiotics, drugs and chemicals."

Mixed Menu of Br'er Fox

FOXES EAT MOSTLY AT THE "MOUTH OF THE CORNUCOPIA."

Bounties were established because people thought foxes ate lots of game birds and animals. However, studies by the Michigan Conservation Department show that foxes simply eat whatever they can get. Probably the most important single staple in their diet is field mice, but they also normally eat insects, snakes, rabbits, fish, dead creatures found on roadways or in the woods, corn, frogs, and many other kinds of meat, vegetables, and fruits. In proportion to other things, foxes do not eat many pheasants or rabbits, mostly because these two important game species are too tough to catch.—Mich. Dept. of Conservation
